Release date: August 10, 2016 • Embargo date: immediate release

Dominic Bourke joins Extreme Live Gaming as COO

Live dealer gaming solutions provider Extreme Live Gaming, a subsidiary of NOVOMATIC UK and part of the NOVOMATIC Interactive division, has announced the appointment of Dominic Bourke as the company's new Chief Operating Officer (COO) with immediate effect.

Bourke joins Extreme with a wealth of experience garnered over 10 years working within the online casino industry. Talking in more detail about his background in the business and his aspirations on joining his new colleagues, he noted: "Prior to moving to Extreme I was Head of Casino at the Betclac Everest Group, and I have also spent some time as Head of Casino at SportingBet. The decision to take up this high profile role with Extreme represents a fantastic opportunity.

"I am excited to be back working with CEO Darwyn Palenzuela again, and believe that the prodigious progress Extreme continues to make demonstrates that with the right product and the right personnel, new suppliers can continue to drive the online casino industry forward. I look forward to helping them continue their progress."

Palenzuela, founder and CEO of Extreme Live Gaming, welcomed Bourke to what is a key position within the organisation. "We are delighted to bring Dominic on board at what is a very exciting time for Extreme. His experience of the online casino environment speaks for itself, and I'm confident that as our new COO he will help progress the company to the next level and beyond."
